

a Penguin Book

5/-

Spring Song and Other Stories

Joyce Cary

Contents

Bush River [1945]	9
Umaru [1950]	21
A Special Occasion [1951]	27
Success Story [1952]	30
Romance [1952]	35
Evangelist [1952]	39
Babes in the Wood [1953]	42
Red Letter Day [1953]	47
Buying a Horse [1953]	52
Spring Song [1954]	58
The Limit [1954]	62
A Good Investment [1954]	66
Carmagnole [1955]	85
A Glory of the Moon [1955]	89
Out of Hand [1955]	92
A Mysterious Affair [1956]	98
Growing Up [1956]	114
A Hot Day [1956]	122
You're Only Young Once [1956]	124

CONTENTS

A Private Ghost [1956]	129
The Breakout [1957]	139
New Boots [1957]	159
Psychologist [1957]	165
A Hero of Our Time [1957]	191
The Tunnel [1957]	199
New Women [1958]	208
Period Piece [1958]	216
The Sheep [1958]	225
Government Baby [1959]	244
A Touch of Genius [1956]	265
The Rebel [1955]	300
First Love [1956]	304
Taste of Glory [1956]	308
The Explorers [1956]	313

a Penguin Book

Spring Song and Other Stories

This volume contains all Joyce Cary's short stories. From the title story, an entrancing pastiche of childhood, to the longer 'Government Baby', and 'A Touch of Reality', their variety and gaiety equal their remarkable insight into the human heart. Whether in Africa or England, the present or the past, these fat, solemn babies, disconcerting children, and so credible adults captivate and absorb us by their utter reality.

'If loving humanity is indeed the basic qualification for writing fiction, none was more qualified than Joyce Cary. He valued his short stories . . . and he was justified. They contain some of his best work' - Guardian

'This is a rich contribution to Joyce Cary's body of work. Spring Song contains all his completed stories . . . most of them are extremely short, closely packed with sharp relevant observation' - Observer

'The stories are extraordinarily vivid and powerful, the writing often magically good' - Sunday Times