5,000 Saucy Definitions

Webster's Unafraid Dictionary is a banquet of bon mots served up in twenty-six courses from A (Altar: A place where a bachelor loses control of himself.) to Z (Zionist: A New Yorker who pays someone else to live in Israel.) The superchef is Leonard Louis Levinson, America's foremost creator and collector of gag definitions. Like the best-selling The Left-Handed Dictionary, also available in Collier Books, this collection of droll definitions was sifted from the wits of famous people, from Dr. Samuel Johnson to Fibber McGee to Adlai Stevenson. For good measure, Mr. Levinson has tossed in hundreds of his own waspish witticisms. In all, it is a Book (What they make a movie out of for television) guaranteed to keep you laughing Ad Infinitum (Television commercials on the Late Show.)

LEONARD LOUIS LEVINSON, author of eight books on subjects as varied as cooking, Wall Street, humor, and Casanova, is also the author or editor of more than five hundred radio scripts, two hundred and fifty television shows, a number of short stories and magazine articles, and special material for several musical plays and revues, two for Broadway. In addition to Webster's Unafraid Dictionary and The Left-Handed Dictionary, Mr. Levinson is represented in Collier Books by his edition of The Memoirs of Jacques Casanova.
