The Faber Book of Modern Verse

edited by

MICHAEL ROBERTS

with a Supplement chosen by Donald Hall

When The Faber Book of Modern Verse was first published in 1936 it introduced a generation of English readers to the revolution that had taken place in poetry. In 1951 we brought out a second edition with a supplement of new poems chosen by Anne Ridler. This edition has been updated by Donald Hall, the distinguished poet and critic, based on the original 1936 edition.
