

FN7750 A CORGI BOOK

The Lute Player

Norah Loftis

Author of The Concubine

NORAH LOFTS

THE LUTE PLAYER

CORGI BOOKS
A DIVISION OF TRANSWORLD PUBLISHERS

CONTENTS

Part One
God's Pauper	1
Part Two
Berengaria's Fool	26
Part Three
Love's Pilgrim	111
Part Four
Richard's Troubadour	199
Part Five
Anna's House of Stone	332

Richard Coeur-de-Lion

Out of the courts of twelfth-century Europe came this brilliant and legendary figure—leading his knights onto the Saracen battlefields—inspired by a vision of the Holy Land.

Here is the story of the Soldier-King and the Third Crusade—of his strange, ill-fated union with Berengaria, Princess of Navarre—of his mother, the She-Wolf, Eleanor of Aquitaine who loved her son with a frantic, possessive pride. And, above all, here is the story of the minstrel whose life was linked with that of the King—the story of Blondel—the Lute Player . . .