

KARL MARX

A BIOGRAPHY

KARL MARX

A BIOGRAPHY

PROGRESS PUBLISHERS
MOSCOW

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION 9

Chapter One

THE WAY TO MATERIALISM AND COMMUNISM 17—56

Childhood and Youth 20. Student Years in Bonn and Berlin 22. Study of Hegel's Philosophy. Among the Young Hegelians 26. Doctoral Dissertation 29. Attitude to Feuerbach 31. Start of Political Activity. Article Against Prussian Censorship 33. Rheinische Zeitung: Contributor and Editor 34. Revolutionary-Democratic Ideas in Marx's Publicistic Writings 36. Conflict with "The Free" 40. Rheinische Zeitung Banned 41. At Kreuznach. A Critique of Hegel's Philosophy of Law MS. Notebooks on History 44. Preparations for Publishing the Deutsch-Französische Jahrbücher. Departure for Paris 48. Final Adoption of Materialism and Communism 50. Prelude to a Great Friendship 52. Deutsch-Französische Jahrbücher: Contemporary Assessments 55.

Chapter Two

FIRST FORMULATION OF THE PRINCIPLES OF THE PROLETARIAN OUTLOOK 57—79

Break with Ruge 57. Marx in Paris in 1844 58. Scientific Pursuits 62. Economic and Philosophic Manuscripts of 1844 63. Work on Vorwärts! 69. An Historic Meeting 71. Preparation for Joint Attack on Young Hegelians 71. The Holy Family 73. Expulsion from Paris 78.

Chapter Three

THE MATERIALIST VIEW OF HISTORY 80—105

In Brussels 80. Arrival of Engels. Plan for New Philosophical Work 82. Theses on Feuerbach 83. Outstanding Foreign Socialists Series. Articles in the Press 85. Early Followers 86. Trip to England 88. Critical Study of Political Economy and Socialist Literature 90. Work on The German Ideology 93. Revolution in Views of Social Development Completed 96. The Main Thing: Self-Clarification 104.

Chapter Four

THE START OF THE STRUGGLE FOR THE PROLETARIAN PARTY. PROGRAMME FOR THE INTERNATIONAL WORKING-CLASS MOVEMENT 106—15

The Brussels Communist Correspondence Committee 107. The Break with Weitling 110. The Struggle Against "True Socialism" 112. Disagreement with Proudhon 115. The Poverty of Philosophy 118. Foundation of the Communist League 123. German Workers' Society in Brussels 127. Wage Labour and Capital 128. Efforts to Start a Periodical 130. International Congress of Economists 134. Polemics with Karl Heinzen 135. Efforts to Unite the Revolutionary Forces 130. Second Congress of the Communist League 141. After the Congress 144. Work on the Manifesto of the Communist Party 146. First Marxist Programme 148.

Chapter Five

PERIOD OF REVOLUTIONS: 1848-49

Revolutions Break Out in Europe. Marx Expelled from Brussels 155. Marx in Paris. Fight Against "Export Revolution" Plans 158. Demands of the Communist Party in Germany 159. Start of Activity in Revolutionary Germany 161. Opposing the Views of Gottschalk and Born 162. Proletarian Wing of the Democratic Movement 164. Editor-in-Chief of the Neue Rheinische Zeitung 166. Struggle to Complete the Bourgeois-Democratic Revolution 169. Support for the Oppressed People's Struggle. The Neue Rheinische Zeitung's Attitude Towards Foreign Policy 173. The June Uprising in Paris 175. Revolutionary Organ of the Proletariat 176. Opposing the Counter-Revolutionary Offensive. Marx in the Cologne Workers' League and the Democratic Society 177. Trip to Berlin and Vienna 181. September Crisis in Germany 182. The October Uprising in Vienna 186. Fighting the Counter-Revolutionary Coup in Prussia 188. First Results and Prospects of the German and European Revolutions 193. Working for the Unity of the Democratic Forces 195. Two Trials 197. Marx in February-March 1849 199. Practical Steps Towards a Mass Proletarian Party 201. The Neue Rheinische Zeitung and the National Liberation Struggle in Hungary and Italy 205. Defeat of the Rhine Uprisings. Neue Rheinische Zeitung Closed Down 207. In South-Western Germany 209. Back in Paris. June 13 211. First Historical Test of Marxism 214.

Chapter Six

SUMMING UP THE LESSONS OF THE REVOLUTION

The First Months in London 215. The Founding of the Neue Rheinische Zeitung. Politisch-ökonomische Revue 217. The Glass Struggles in France 219. Efforts to Reorganise the Communist League. March Address of the Central Committee 223. Universal Society of Communist Revolutionaries 227. Revue in the Neue Rheinische Zeitung. Politisch-ökonomische Revue 229. International Surveys. Evaluating the Prospects of the Revolution 231. Fight Against the Wüllich-Schapper Sectarian-Adventurist Faction 232. Engels Leaves for Manchester. Correspondence Between the Two Friends 235. Plan for a Fresh Attack Against Proudhon 237. The Eighteenth Brumaire of Louis Bonaparte 238. Critique of Petty-Bourgeois Democracy. The Great Sages of the Emigrative Pamphlet 243. Cologne Communist Trial 245. Communist League Dissolved. New Forms of Struggle for a Party 249.

Chapter Seven

YEARS OF REACTION

Oppressed by Reaction and Poverty 252. Marx in the Family Circle 255. A Friendship Forfeited in Tribulation 258. Economic Researches 259. Scientific Studies in Other Fields 263. Fostering Proletarian Revolutionaries. Safeguarding Revolutionary Traditions Among the German Workers 267. Marx and Chartism in the 1850s 270. Connections with the U.S. Working-Class Movement 272. Writing for the Progressive Bourgeois Press 273. Marx as a Publicist 277. Articles on Britain's Political System 279. Struggle Against Reactionary Regimes in Continental Europe 281. Exposure of the Capitalist States' Colonial Policies 284. Critique of the Ruling Classes' Foreign Policy 289. Revolutionary Tactics on the Eastern Question. Attitude to the Crimean War 291. Revelations of the Diplomatic History of the 19th Century 295. "Revolutionary Spain" 299. Facing New Battles 301.

